

Colonial Emigration.

A meeting of the Colonial Emigration Society was held at the Mansion House, London, on the 27th July, the Lord Mayor presiding. Mr. Currie, a member of the Committee, and who had recently visited Canada on behalf of the Society, made some very important and highly interesting statements. He had visited all the principal emigrant settlements, and made careful personal enquiry into the condition of many of those already sent out. "The result he had arrived at was a conviction on his part that nearly all the emigrants aided by the charitable societies were not merely employed, by far the greater portion of them, at farm work, but were perfectly happy and contented." This result must afford a tolerably conclusive answer to the carping of some who have been endeavoring to make out that the condition of the great mass of those sent to Canada was not improved by the change, and that they wished themselves back in England. That some should, under any circumstances, long to return to the "flesh-pots of Egypt," was to be expected; but that the great bulk of them, all in fact who are sober and industrious, will do well in Canada, is beyond a doubt. Mr. Currie spoke in the highest terms of praise of the attentions he received both from Government agents and from the people. He said Ontario had this year provided for 5,720 persons sent out by the various societies, and wanted 7,229 more. Canada, he adds, will find a home for any person accustomed to manual labor, who does not see his way clearly to provide for himself and family in the old country, and is industrious and sober. The meeting passed a vote of thanks to the Marquis of Westminster, for a second munificent donation of £1,000 to the funds of the Society. By the first donation the committee had been able to dispatch 300 emigrants to Canada, nearly all of whom were in the way of well-doing. What an avenue for reflection is here opened up. A single member of England's nobility, by a single donation, snatches 300 of his fellow creatures from want and probable pauperism and places them in a position where, without ceasing to be British subjects, they cease to be a burden upon their country, where, by sobriety and industry, every one of them can attain comfortable independence in the course of a few years. What amount of well-being would that thousand pounds have produced if contributed towards maintaining paupers at home? Like a grain of sand cast into the ocean, it would never have been felt. When will England be wise? When will she learn that the only real cure for pauperism is Colonial emigration, that a thousand dollars judiciously employed in promoting that will accomplish more real, lasting good than a million cast into the abyss of pauper home relief? If the British public and the British Government could only rise to the true cure for pauperism and the true use of the colonies viewed from a home standpoint, we should hear no more about a profitless or discontented Colonial Empire. If the fifteen or twenty millions sterling little better than thrown away every year in an abortive attempt to relieve pauperism were wisely employed in settling the surplus population in the colonies, what happy results would accrue to both parties!

The Rise and Fall of the British Empire.

Near CLINTON, Aug 29, 1869

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—As the question of the separation of the Colonies from the Mother Country is now on the tapis, the following quotation addressed to Lord Palmerston during the Crimean war may prove interesting as it touches on the subject:—
"Now allow me to draw your attention to a no less interesting subject—Our Colonial Empire. Your Lordship will have observed from the development of the colonies into nations, a centrifugal movement, which in one instance resulted in the abrupt secession of large and populous territories, the United States. This was in the nature of things, for the colonies driven to arms by our blundering policy found themselves strong enough to break up a Dominion which had become a stumbling block to their further progress. A different course pursued by the Home Government towards other portions of the Empire has hitherto checked any further dismemberment. But need I observe to your Lordship that this statu quo cannot last very long; that as the colonies grow older and more powerful they will demand and obtain their independence; that our Empire in the course of nature will die a natural death unless it be hurried on to a violent end by any injudicious intermeddling on our part in its internal administration. But why not change the old order of things to a new which shall give us a fresh lease of Empire? May not a new combination in the relation between the parent State and the Colonies bind us in one common polity as we are now bound by one common origin? The chief cause of disruption would be in the Colonies aspiring to the dignity of independent States when they should have developed their internal resources, in other words, when beyond the stage of pupillage, is there no English statesman bold enough and farseeing to forestall events, gratify their aspirations and imprint a beneficial character to this bloodless revolution? Cannot we change the British Empire into a Confederacy of Anglo-Saxon States, free, independent and united, of which Great Britain would be the nucleus? Immense advantages would accrue to the contracting parties of this Federal bond. To the Colonies one Federal diplomacy, one Imperial army and common flag. The economy, power and security which the new Confederacy offers to each integral portion of the Empire are advantages which no single State or Colony could possibly hope to obtain by its own unassisted efforts. To the Mother Country friendly ports in war time, greater security and wider scope for its commerce, and all the untold profit from wielding such a power. Does your Lordship realize the difference of England's voice in the councils of Europe as the leader of the great Confederacy from its voice as a single State, a horn of Empire? Does it strike your Lordship how advantageous to English capital when invested in enterprises covered by our flag and regulated by our laws to its precarious and risky struggle under the arbitrary policy of separate States often tamary, at times conflicting? Will not our commercial transactions, the world over, painfully feel the insecurity which the loosening of the bonds of our Empire would naturally produce? Quotations on the Stock Exchange would soon tell us that our wealth in transitu was no longer covered by the aegis of a powerful State; and I doubt whether any increase, however liberal, in our army and navy estimates would counterbalance our moral loss in the fact of our no longer being backed by a powerful Empire. Now, my Lord, it is my humble opinion that at no time like the present, when the tide of colonial sympathy runs strong towards us in this our struggle with Russia, can we set afloat our newly conceived reform—that of drawing the Colonies into closer companionship with the Mother Country; of checking the centrifugal by a centripetal movement."

The movement here foreshadowed as early as 1855, of which failing health alone prevented Lord Palmerston from becoming the guiding spirit, has now assumed the dimensions of an important crisis in our national history. It behoves us Colonists to look at the question from a colonial standpoint and to consult our real interest. If the institution of a powerful confederacy of all the British Colonies should prove on mature reflection to be a harbinger of peace. If it should promise to afford us a powerful police of the seas, a powerful preventive of war and hence greater security to our commercial transactions—if our laws, institutions, civilization and well being generally should be thereby advanced or secured—then let a great colonial agitation thoroughly ventilate the whole scheme. Let a great colonial party agitate for the union of the colonies in this grand alliance. Let a powerful world-wide State, guided by a well constituted central authority, arise out of the present chaotic confusion of our relations with the mother country and with one another. Let a well ordered individual Anglo-Saxon State define and clearly lay down the duties and privileges of each component element or part. Let us have one common federal army and navy, diplomatic service and civil list. Let the sovereign authority of the new Confederate State be well defined and limited, but powerful and efficient. Let it be no sham. Let each colony cheerfully contribute its quota to the federal treasury, bearing in mind, should the extra taxation prove somewhat irksome, that this premium on a peace insurance policy paid to a great Peace and Reciprocity Insurance Association on a national, intercolonial, world-wide scale of which each colony would be a member. Let Great Britain, as the oldest and most experienced State, be the head and front of the union, if she do not decline the honor, but let us have union at all events as the great harbinger of perhaps millennial peace. Let a vast colonial convention assemble at once, agree on the preliminaries and sketch out the constitution of this new State for approval, discussion or amendment by the several colonial Parliaments, and we shall then be in a fair way of averting the disasters so keenly felt in the above quotation as the result of the probable decline and fall of the British Empire.

The Government Assay Office.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—In your issue of the 10th I notice an article on the Government Assay Office, in which it is stated that the amount assayed there during the year was 13 725 32-100 ounces. At $16 per ounce this would amount to $219 605.12, the charge on which, at 1/4 of 1 per cent., which I believe is the Government rate for assaying, comes to $549 rather more than enough to cover one month's salaries and expenses! Being rather astonished at the result of these figures I took the trouble of making some further enquiry on the subject and ascertained that the amount of bars shipped during the same period was $1,780,887 which, deducting the $219 605.12 due at New Westminster, shows $1,560,982 assayed by the Bank of British North America, being rather more than seven times the amount treated at the Government Office. The fact of the matter is that the Government Assay Office is and has been a perpetual drain on the resources of the Colony from its commencement ten years ago, and ought to have been closed long since had the interest of the community been consulted. Originally started with a staff of four employees, it was reduced to two six years ago, and has been allowed to linger on ever since at a heavy expense to the country, owing to the supineness and indifference of those in authority. Now that our new Governor has arrived, let us hope that among other abuses this crying one will be fairly looked into, and that at the ensuing session some of our popular members will obtain a statement of the cost of this office to the Colony from its commencement, and if the result does not fairly startle your readers, I for one shall be greatly surprised. The suggestion in your article about the establishment of a branch office at Cariboo tending to improve matters, is, with due respect to the writer, simply nonsense; on the contrary, it is only increasing the expense without a possibility of adequate return; the freight on the materials alone is a total bar to the successful operation of an Assay Office at Cariboo.

A LONG SUFFERING TAX PAYER.

THE QUEEN OF PERFUME.

MURRAY & LAMSON'S Florida Water invigorates and strengthens the weak and debilitated, soothes and quiets the nervous and excitable, and induces peaceful sleep to the weary and listless.

Beware of the pernicious counterfeits! Always take for the Florida Water prepared by the sole proprietors, Lamson & Kemp, New York.

England and her Colonies.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—It is my belief that the possession of her colonies is a source of wealth to England, and that it is her bounden duty to succor them by material aid in their infancy, instead of treating their constant appeals for necessary and wholesome reforms with contemptuous indifference. What would England be without her vast possessions? Their retention, assuming them unprofitable, (which I deny,) have given her the great prestige which she now enjoys; the loss of one will diminish her glory, because if one goes others will follow.

Surely, sir, something must be radically wrong when a body of prominent colonists unite together under the auspices of one who has governed, and demand redress or separation, for it must be manifest that the Colonial Department in England is badly managed or else Parliament is derelict in duty, as will appear from the following cutting from the Toronto Globe of the 13th ult.:

"A London letter says a meeting was lately held in London, consisting of all the most eminent representatives of the Pacific colonies, and presided over by one of the most eminent of Colonial Governors. At this gathering deep and general dissatisfaction was expressed with the political and moral relations of their important and growing countries with the parent State and all the influential colonists present, representing in fact all the important interests of their respective settlements, joined in the expression of a determination to require of Great Britain some reconstruction of her Colonial Empire, which should afford them a guarantee that the interests of the various colonies should receive due and prompt attention. In the event of this being found impracticable, and the sense of the meeting was decidedly that it would be so found, it was declared by all present that they should use all their influence with their respective settlements to leave British allegiance and seek in some form the protectorate of the United States, or at all events to become in such a manner as may be decided, members of the system of the Great Republic. The meeting was not public; but its results are likely to be known at an early day."

I trust the effect of this meeting will prove beneficial to the just administration of the Colonial Empire by binding and uniting them more closely on terms based upon equity and justice. Why should not each colony be duly represented by a convention to meet in London? and then with a firm and bold stroke sweep away the grievances under which they are groaning; for I am sure the people in England are not unanimous with the views enunciated by the Goldwin Smith and Bright School. Although "coming events cast their shadows before," judging from the London News of the 6th ult., which contains the following:—"Considering all the circumstances which make it difficult for Europeans to keep hold of their unwilling colonies in America, and reflecting that Cuba in now in insurrection, Spain will be fortunate if $20,000,000 ever reaches Madrid as the price of Cuba," the vexed question should be put to the test as soon as practicable and Englishmen be made aware of the advantages, importance and greatness Great Britain has by keeping her colonial possessions. None could more ably do so than the members composing the convention mentioned. The thing should be mooted forthwith to know whether the result be aye or nay.

About Oysters.

A New York paper says: "Among the many whims of America, few are more mistaken or perverse than that which forbids the eating of oysters in the months without an 'r,' for the deep sea oyster is in his prime in scorching July, and brings from the pale, cool depths of his abode, a more delightful flavor and a firmer texture than the product at any wintry month affords."

Music.—The undersigned informs the public in general that he is the only teacher of the Pianoforte who combines Thorough-bass and Composition with his instruction in music and singing, and is also the most experienced and legitimate Tuner of Pianofortes in the Colony. Terms—Pianoforte and Singing $6 per month. Pianofortes tuned and repaired at $3 00 and upwards. Music provided for Balls, Evening parties and Dinners.—DIAGY PALMER, Kane street, or at T N Hibben & Co's Book Store, Government street.—Mrs Palmer instructs beginners on the Piano at $3 00 per month.

BOOK BINDING.—T. N. Hibben & Co have, in connection with their Book and Stationary Business, added Book Binding, and the various branches connected therewith, and will add the mechanical parts and material necessary for meeting the requirements of the Colony, guaranteeing neatness, dispatch and satisfaction in all work entrusted to them.

A CASE OF bone Cancer was laid before a convention of seven hundred doctors in Philadelphia, and the unanimous decision was that amputation was the only alternative. The patient was entirely cured without amputation by using the "Macamoose."

FEEL'S COFFEE has become the favorite Colonial beverage, and is to be found on every breakfast table from Victoria to the foot of the Rocky Mountains.

Buy It and Try It.—Russell's celebrated coffee. The best on the Coast. Warranted a pure and healthful beverage.

REV I. R. GATES should be considered a public benefactor for introducing to the afflicted the Great Indian Remedy known as the "Macamoose."

HOLLOWAY'S Ointment—Turn which way you will, go where you please, persons will be found who have a ready word of praise for this Ointment. For chaps, chafes, scalds, bruises and sprains, it is an invaluable remedy; for bad leg ulcers by accident or cold it may be confidently relied upon to cure, and even permanent scabs. In cases of swollen ankles, erysipelas, gout and rheumatism, Holloway's Ointment gives the greatest comfort by reducing the inflammation, cooling the blood, soothing the nerves, adjusting the circulation, and expelling the impurities. This Ointment should have a place in every nursery. It will cure the long list of skin affections which originate in childhood and gain strength with the child's growth.

Bristol's Sarsaparilla and Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of foul and violent humors that have their origin in impure blood and vitiated humors, and for 35 years they have proved that in all chronic skin diseases, small internal and venereal or cancerous diseases, and in every form of ulcers and scalds, these two great remedies never fail in effecting a cure.

MEET REWARDED.—It must be a source of gratification and pride to the inventor, after years of study and toil, to have his success crown his efforts, and know his labor is appreciated. This is peculiarly the case with Mr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters which is composed of purely vegetable preparations, making the most effective and pleasant preparation for the medical intelligence, and skill of our time to produce.

DR. CHING FUN—A CARD—EDITOR

YOUR COLONIST.—Through the medium of your paper I want to state the very great good that has been done me by Dr. Ching Fun of this city, next door to Kwong Lee & Co. For 24 years I suffered with neuralgia on the brain, which baffled the skill of three first-class American physicians. Latterly bronchitis attacked my right lung, and my eyes became acutely inflamed. Dreading of ever being cured I placed myself as a last resort in the hands of Dr. Ching Fun, and after five months' treatment I am a well man and feel that I cannot soundly commend Chinese gentlemen's services too highly, so that all my countrymen similarly affected may visit him and find relief. Respectfully,

An Amusing Police Court Scene.
Yesterday appeared at the Police Court Patrick Cosgrove, a bould pioneer of Leech river, to prosecute James Scott, a fellow-countryman, who, he alleged, assaulted him by slapping his face some ten days ago. The prisoner pleaded not guilty.
Magistrate.—You may ask Cosgrove any questions you like.
Prisoner.—Wasn't you drunk at the time? didn't you put your hand about me neck and give me a kiss? didn't I put me hand out and give you a slap in the face? An' didn't I make a me of meself in the public street by so doing? And didn't you say, by this and by that, 'you're a thavin' son of this and the t'other thing? I answer me, sir—r-r?
Prosecutor (disdainfully).—I never used such an expression of the kind. I thrust I've better sense.
A witness called for the defence failed to prove anything material.
Prisoner.—Yer honor, I don't deny the assault, an' I've done it many a time before, an' he's made both me eyes as black as a pease of turf, many times before we parted. He's one of the ugliest timpered min in the world. Hell walk up to a man six foot high and eat him a liar, and thin he'll take off his hat and make a bow.
Witness, (meekly).—Yer honor, I'm no such man.
Prisoner.—It's yer reg'lar habit when yer drunk; when yer sober yer decent enough; I don't deny that.
Prosecutor.—An' didn't I ax you for let you owed me, an' didn't yer give me a slap?
Prisoner.—Do you hear that—the choke of the man. Nhy, yer honor, he owes me six bits. He's sworn his name's Cosgrove an' its McCusker. He's a lyer.
Magistrate.—If you apply the term liar, I shall have to commit you.
One of the police officers explained that the prisoner meant to say "a lawyer."
Prisoner.—Yis, a lyer. He did somethin' in Calyfony and had to change his name. Didn't you pisen a dog of Mr. White's on Leech river? Ye've low, dirty thricks wid ye, McCusker. An' to go and kiss a man in the streets!
Magistrate.—If I let you off with a small fine will you promise me that you won't touch this man again.
Prisoner.—Oh, I'll give you bail for 20 years that I won't touch him again.
Magistrate.—I'll fine you $5, then.
Prisoner.—Shure I'll have no money till Saturday night; you'll have to thrust me.
An' 'thrust' the prisoner was—into the back.
THE ALEXANDRA.—The machinery is being removed from the steamer Alexandra, the hull showing palpable evidence of weakness. The Alexandra was built in 1864, by the late James W. Trahey, for Capt. Wm. Moore, a Fraser River boatman. She cost, complete, $49,000, and ruined the owner, who one fine morning stole the steamer away from the harbor and took her to an American port, where she lay at anchor (the owner endeavoring, meanwhile, to make arrangements with his creditors here) until an adventurous spirit from Victoria, while all hands were on shore, boarded the steamer, got up steam, and brought her to Victoria. The Alexandra then passed into the hands of a number of creditors of Capt. Moore, who started to run her as an independent boat between Victoria and Fraser, river giving the command to the late Capt. Coffin. It was while on her second trip, we believe, that the Alexandra crashed through the iron sides of the steamer Fideliter, then owned by the Vancouver Coal Company, causing that steamer to sink off Beacon Hill. She was then libelled by the Company and heavy damages recovered, whereupon she was sold by auction, bringing $5000, to the Hudson Bay Company, by whom she is now owned.
THE CIRCUS—REDUCED PRICES.—The Circus exhibits once more this evening at reduced prices. Think of it: the wit of Nelson, the acrobatic feats of the Lee children, the equestrianism of Polly Lee, and the tumbling of the company of Indian rubber men, may all be enjoyed by grown persons for 50 cents, and by children for 25 cents. This will be the last opportunity to witness a fine performance.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—The anniversary missionary meeting of the Wesleyan Methodist Society was held in the Pandora street Church last evening. A. K. Robertson, Esq., presiding. The proceedings having been opened with singing and prayer, the Chairman, in a very humorous speech, stated the object of the meeting and introduced the several speakers. The Rev. Mr. Russ, Superintendent of the Circuit, first addressed the meeting, giving an abstract of the mission work in this Colony during the year. One hundred had been added to the membership, and $7000 had been raised in support of the mission schemes of the church. The Rev. Mr. Aitken, Presbyterian Minister of Nainaimo, next addressed the meeting. His remarks were very much to the purpose, and elicited applause. Next came the Cariboo Missionary, or, as the Chairman introduced him, the Cariboo lion, (the Rev. Mr. Derrick) who, for considerably more than an hour, commanded such breathless attention as would admit of the falling of a pin being heard, save only at such moments as a flight of eloquence elicited a burst of applause, or a sally of wit convulsed the audience with laughter. The audience was, perhaps, scarcely as large as we expected to find, yet it was far from small, and the occasion, taken altogether, passed off in a very satisfactory manner. The collections at the Sabbath services, as well as those of last night were, we understand, very liberal.
THE EXHIBITION.—Mr. Bales, Secretary of the Agricultural and Horticultural Society, has been informed by the Government that the Sir James Douglass will carry to and from the East coast without charge all animals and articles intended for the exhibition on the 29th inst. The river boats and the steamer Enterprise will perform the same service for animals and articles sent by Maitland contributors. It would seem from the preparations on foot that the forthcoming is bound to excel all previous efforts of the Society.
SAN FRANCISCO.—A San Francisco dispatch says that "a number of carpenters, brick masons, etc., in that city have become disgusted with the hard times, and are making preparations to emigrate to Mississippi and Louisiana. Nearly all large manufacturers are reducing their force of workmen. Kimball's carriage manufactory discharged twenty men yesterday. Several mills have reduced their force."
It will be seen by our telegraphic report that the Hudson Bay and Puget Sound Agricultural Companies, upon relinquishing the lands held by them, will receive $650,000 for their claims against the U.S. Government. The companies claimed one million.
FAST DRIVING.—Fresh complaints of fast driving were made at the Police Court yesterday. Both the defendants were backmen. One was fined $5, which he paid, and the other got remanded to procure evidence for the defence.
FROM PUGET.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt arrived at 8 1/2 o'clock last night, bringing 40 passengers and a freight of Sound produce. The mail steamer Gussie Telfair was at Port Townsend preparing to sail for Victoria when the Hunt left that port.
AUCTION SALE.—Mr. Franklin will sell at 12 o'clock to-day, at his sale room, valuable city and country land, comprising Pandora street and Metchozin, Esquimalt and Lake District property.
AUCTION SALE.—J. P. Davies & Co. will sell at 11 o'clock to-day, hardware and furniture, glassware and crockery. At 12 o'clock, Victoria district and Quadra street property.
DAY OF ATONEMENT.—The solemn Atonement Fast will commence at 6 o'clock this evening and continues until 6 o'clock to-morrow. Business will be entirely suspended by the Jewish residents.
The Chinese are about establishing a Savings Bank at San Francisco. It is calculated that $10,000,000 will thus be released from its hiding-places and put into circulation.
The steamer Emma returned yesterday after a fruitless cruise in the Straits for the brig Coquette. The brig wasn't there.
The Agricultural and Horticultural Society will hold a meeting at 1 1/2 o'clock to-day at Smith's Hall.
The U. S. S. Mohican sailed for ports on Puget Sound yesterday, to be absent about one week.
The Active sailed on Saturday at 2 o'clock for Victoria.
By Electric Telegraph.
SPECIAL TO THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST
LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.
Cuba.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Advices from Cuban sources give accounts of several engagements recently between Cubans and Spanish; the most important of which was between Yat Mahat, six thousand strong, and Queneades near Los Tuyas, lasting four hours. Spaniards were repulsed with severe loss. Queneades and Jordan express confidence in their ability to secure Cuban independence.
Europe.
DUBLIN, Sep. 8.—A meeting favorable to amnesty to the Fenians was held at Limbrick yesterday 25,000 were present. Resolutions were adopted, no one dissenting, that the farmers of Ireland will not accept any tenant rights until the political prisoners are liberated.
Sir John Grey, editor of the Freeman's Journal, makes an appeal to Johnson of Belfast, as the leader of the Orangemen, to cooperate in the movement for the settling of the land question.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Lord Elotho, who has taken a prominent part in the volunteer movement recently, has suggested a rifle match between England and America.
The London Times to-day is indignant over the late outrages in China. It says, whether China understands that it is for its advantage to keep order in its own dominions or not, England is resolved to insist that it must keep the mandarins under proper control.
Should war result it would be unquestionably our interest to stipulate that the fulfillment of the terms of the treaty be assumed solely by the Chinese.
The cereal crops of Russia are good excepting in the northern provinces, where the yield is only half the average.
The Evening Post says the Pope is about to make great efforts to convert the negroes of Africa. Two hundred negroes are now studying for the priesthood.
The Times, in an article on the subject of Sickles' note to the Spanish Government, says it is hardly credible that America contemplates the recognition of Cuba when Spain has little to lose except the Island. It adds Spain must consent to abandon it.
The Telegraph has an article on the same subject. It says the American action in this respect is the same that England was so much blamed for, though the cause is not precisely parallel and the Cubans are absolutely without strength, without civil or military recognition, and without an established government. If the Americans cannot vindicate their acts by the plea that they cannot remain indifferent to the struggle of a friendly people for freedom and independence, then England in 1861 acted in the manner the Americans now sanction.
MADRID, Sept. 8.—A slight disturbance occurred in the city owing to the removal of volunteers from posts they had held since the revolution. Several of the volunteers were wounded.
PARIS, Sept. 10.—Official papers say the Emperor is entirely recovered.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 10.—The frontier question between Turkey and Prussia has been satisfactorily arranged and formal ratification will be exchanged as soon as possible.
Eastern States.
PROVIDENCE, R. I. Sept. 9.—The gale last evening was the most severe since 1855, when the city was submerged. It raged throughout the State. Several lives were lost in this city. The Hartford Railroad depot was demolished and probably a hundred buildings were unroofed. Many vessels are ashore.
BOSTON, Sept. 9.—The hurricane extended over most of Eastern Massachusetts; at Nahant the depot and steamboat wharf were blown into the sea. At Hull every boat at anchor was driven ashore or sunk. The Coliseum organ is ruined. It was to have been sold to Chicago parties for $50,000; the big drum is also ruined. Nearly every vessel in Boston harbor dragged anchor and many collided.
Second Dispatch.
West Indies.
HARTFORD, Sept. 10.—Private letters state that an attempt was made to assassinate Mr. Holdster, the Minister to Hayti at his residence, Port au Prince. Threats had also been made against Mr. Bassett. Mr. Holdster's wounds are not fatal.
Eastern States.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—A trade meeting was held to-night to consider the subject of holding an international exhibition at Washington in 1871. A number of principal business men were present who argued that such an exhibition would do more than anything else to silence the cry for the removal of the capital.
NASHVILLE, Sept. 10.—Hon. John Bell died at 2 a. m. to-day at his residence.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The Commissioners under the treaty with England of July 1863 for the settlement of claims arising from the treaty of 1846, has been in session here some time and have pronounced the awards in favor of the Hudson Bay Company for $450,000 and the Puget Sound Company for $200,000. These companies are required by the award to release to the United States all their possessions and rights in Oregon and Washington Territory which were the subject-matter of their respective claims.
Europe.
PARIS, Sept. 10.—Official papers announced that the condition of the Emperor as satisfactory and he has asked the consent of his physicians to go out into the open air. It is considered possible that the Emperor will undertake his journey to the East in a short time.
Fears are entertained of a return of the Emperor's sickness, a fact which makes it exceedingly important that the Constitution of the Government should be well settled without this a revolution is certain in the event of any change.
The Emperor arrived at Paris this evening, he visited the Boulevards by the Rue de La Paix, and returned to St. Cloud by the Champs Lysees.
LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Examiner says the prevailing question is not solicitude regarding Napoleon's health, but the consequence of the discontinuance of despotism, which must occur by a change in the political system on his death which, whenever it comes, will be a relief to the human race.
The Lloyd's are building three steamers for the West Indian trade.
The rumors that negotiations are pending for the entrance of Bavaria and Baden into the North German Confederacy are denied.
John Bright, in a letter, says the good harvest will tend to restore health to the general trade of the country. "When you have a sufficient supply of cotton Lancashire will recover from her distressed condition; it is more cotton wanted, not more taxes on imports."
The Times, in an article on the cotton supply, says the times have changed.
